

SomerSplash Waterpark

SomerSplash Waterpark is awesome! What a fun way to spend an afternoon with your children. Get wet and have fun sliding down some amazing winding slides or in the wave pool while enjoying the clean, well maintained facility in Somerset, Kentucky. This easily accessible waterpark is located near Traffic Light #1 just off the Cumberland Parkway. It opened in 2006 to offer a water adventure for children of all ages. They are open from Memorial Day through Labor Day - a real big hit with families seeking a fun day out and a break from the summer heat. SomerSplash is operated by the city of Somerset and employs around 150 seasonal workers - mostly trained lifeguards. General Manager Stephen Sims loves his job and enjoys insuring that the visitors have a great time and that folks have a memorable experience. Stephen is a certified Aquatic Facility Operator (AFO) and SomerSplash belongs to the National Recreation and Park Association that accredits waterparks across the country. SomerSplash offers a lazy river, several water slides, a great children's area for the little tykes, and the exhilarating wave pool. While I was visiting, a new bowl slide and a speed slide were under construction. SomerSplash expects a July 2010 opening for these areas. There are also hundreds of new lounge chairs lining the water park for those wishing to rest or who like to sunbathe. For visitors needing shade there is plenty offered by some beautiful green canvas umbrellas. This is a great place to come and enjoy watching your children and grandchildren laugh, get wet, and have a great time. Isn't that what summer is all about?

SomerSplash Waterpark has the right formula for fun and to give families a great summer day outing creating lots of memories.
